Lung Cancer Screening

Make the first move against lung cancer, because early detection saves lives.

If you're an individual between 50 to 80 years old that smokes regularly, or has a prior history of smoking for an extended period of time, then we recommend this screening. As with all forms of cancer, early detection represents the best chance for treatment and recovery.

Belle Santé Women Package

Early detection is key, and our packages offer the necessary screenings and services to ensure your well-being.

Screenings can help identify risk factors for various diseases, allowing women to take proactive steps to reduce their risk. Regular screenings can detect health conditions early when they are often more treatable and manageable. For example, mammograms can detect breast cancer in its early stages, potentially improving treatment outcomes.

Women's Wellness Package

Early detection is key, and our packages offer the necessary screenings and services to ensure your well-being.

Screenings can help identify risk factors for various diseases, allowing women to take proactive steps to reduce their risk. Regular screenings can detect health conditions early when they are often more treatable and manageable. For example, mammograms can detect breast cancer in its early stages, potentially improving treatment outcomes.
